Critchleys and The Sunday Times 2010 Oxford Literary Festival 20 – 28 March 2010

Critchleys are delighted to welcome you to the 2010 Sunday Times Oxford Literary Festival – once again we are sponsoring the inspiring Children's Programme. Held in the beautiful and historic Christ Church, the Festival offers a week of stimulating and prestigious events, hosted by some of the most influential and renowned writers and thinkers of the present day.

Offering over 250 events ranging from intimate talks by authors to topical panel discussions, exclusive private dinners in College to interviews with household names, the Festival provides an exciting and diverse programme and includes a unique residential Creative Writing Programme.

The Festival venues include not only Christ Church and the marquees on the Meadows, but also Corpus Christi, the beautiful Sheldonian Theatre and the imposing Bodleian Library; giving you an exceptional opportunity to visit many of Oxford's premier locations.

The Meadows marquee provides an opportunity to enjoy the vibrant atmosphere, browse the festival bookshop or relax in the café.

Critchleys recommended events include:

Joanna Trollope – The Other Family

Martin Bell – A Very British Revolution

Max Hastings – Did You Really Shoot the Television? A Family Fable

Jane Fearnley-Whittingstall – The Ministry of Food: Thrifty Ways to Feed Your Family Today

Helen Dunmore interviewed by Jem Poster

David Dimbleby – The Seven Ages of Britain

Andrew Rawnsley – The End of the Party: The Rise and Fall of New Labour

Shirley Williams – Climbing the Bookshelves: The Autobiography of Shirley Williams
