

Research and Development tax saving

Critchleys chartered accountants helped leading Oxford app developer, Colin Alton of Wizix, receive £161,000 through R&D tax reliefs.

This significant win is part of a highly successful year for the Critchleys Business team, who within a few weeks of meeting Colin helped him achieve this total.

Colin Alton, from Wizix Limited, commented "As part of our audit review meeting, it was explained to me that my business might qualify for R&D tax reliefs. At the time I had no experience or knowledge of this opportunity at all.

I am therefore extremely grateful that Critchleys did have the knowledge and experience to offer this vitally important advice. It has made a significant and immediately tangible difference to the financial health of my business.

I worked with Ian Timms, who guided me to provide the pertinent information about our R&D project. Ian submitted our claim and liaised with HMRC on my behalf.

Within a few weeks of receiving the initial advice, £161,000 had been deposited by HMRC into our bank account.

What a result! Well done and thank you Critchleys!"
